

Code Name: K'ien

Appearance: A quiet man of probable arab descent, green cyber eyes, short hair and a moustache he loves to twiddle. K'ien is heavily cybered, though he tends to hide it decently well under his cotton robe.

Profile: Face

K'ien was always the overlooked kid when he ran with the gangs. He was never as strong, never as fast, never as dangerous as his friends. What he was good at though was managing people, and getting things done without resorting to violence. Some mocked him for this.

They're long gone.

K'ien is still here.

K'ien is jack-of-all-trade with a contact network so vast and dense it would probably be faster to list who he doesn't know on a personal basis in the runner community.